In the most advanced economies, there has been a steady increase in the age at which young people exit the educational system and enter the labour market, giving rise to significant economic and social problems. The increase in levels of educational attainment is associated in some cases with an alarming rate of unemployment among those with academic qualifications, while employers encounter considerable difficulty in recruiting workers for unskilled and semi-skilled positions.

The ADAPT Labour Studies Book-Series has been set up with a view to achieving a better understanding of these and other issues in the field of Labour and Employment relations in a global dimension.
